

Polygram Quart StreetMike Donner

October 2, 1998

WHAT DREAMS MAY COME QUOTES

"What Dreams May Come" takes up where "Ghost" left off."

ATTN: MIKE McROBERTS

Eye-popping, heartbreaking, mind-bending, gut-wrenching, and finally, life-affirming.

Williams and Sciorra are exceptionally powerful.

- Carrie Rickey, Philadelphia Inquirer

I wouldn't have missed "What Dreams May Come" for anything.

- Eleanor Ringel, Atlanta Journal Constitution

a brilliant accomplishment

- Mark Davidziak, The Akron Beacon Journal

visually breathtaking

a true dazzler

a divine comedy

"Dreams" lets your mind dream and heart soar.

- Michael Wilmington, Chicago Tribune so breathtaking, so beautiful, so bold in its imagination daring and visionary visual intensity and originality that is astonishing is like nothing you have seen before

"Starving for great images." This film provides them.

It is a film to treasure.

- Roger Ebert, Chicago Sun-Times gloriously inspiring images

- Jack Mathews, Newsday

It's brave wondrous images

- Rod Dreher, New York Post

a fabulous-looking fantasy so visually breathtaking it's almost an assault on the senses.

- Eleanor O'Sullivan, Asbury Park Press

visually stunning

- Joe Morgenstern, The Wall Street Journal

the most 'awe-inspiring' brilliantly designed visual effects that I have ever seen

There's no way to convey the fun of the visuals through words.

A visual blast

- Paul Tatara, CNN

truly startling visually

- Kenneth Turan, Los Angeles Times

two lead both deliver deeply touching performances

- Nicole Keeter, TimeOut New York

These visuals are so incredible, I thought I'd died and gone to heaven.

I wouldn't be surprised if he got an Oscar nomination here.

And those visual effects, I'll say it, heavenly.

- Joel Siegel, Good Morning America

Robin Williams supremely gifted actor who also excels

- Gene Shalit, Today

eye-catching, to say the least

- Marshall Fine, Gannett Suburban Newspaper

steeped in breathtaking visuals

It's undeniably beautiful.

- Betsy Pickle, Knoxville News Sentinel

nothing less than astonishing

- Michael Clark, The Atlanta Press

dazzling achievement

- Jay Carr, Boston Globe

nothing less than gorgeous

This film demands to be seen.

- Gene Siskel, Chicago Tribune

the must-see movie of the year

- Charles Cassady, The Cleveland Free Times

Sciorra is a revelation

Truly a breakthrough performance

- Joanna Conners, The Plain Dealer (Cleveland)

stunning visual effects

- Ricky Miller, The Met (Dallas-Ft.Worth)

heartwrenching and perfect

The visual effects are stunning

- Erin Soderberg, The Minnesota Daily

extravagantly romantic

- Chris Hewitt, The St.Paul Pioneer Press

Williams continues to outdo himself

- Bob Ross, Tampa Tribune

Ward's film is so ornate, so painterly, so drop-dead gorgeous

"What Dreams May Come" is in another league.

- Amy Biancolli, Albany Times Union

Utterly amazing

Just see it

What an amazing film.

The movie is a vision... a real one.

★★★★

- Jeff Simon, Buffalo News

★★★★

- John Boonstra, Hartford Advocate

Be assured "What Dreams May Come" is a visual feast.

visually breathtaking and intellectually intriguing

- Jack Garner, Rochester Democrat and Chronicle & Louisville Courier Journal

One of the most visually imaginative films I've seen a very special movie

- Siskel & Ebert

This picture is stunning see it in a movie theater, the best movie theater in your town, because you don't want to see this on tape some day.

Two enthusiastic thumbs up one of the great visual achievements in film history

- Gene Siskel, Siskel & Ebert

truly stunning

- Sara Stewart, Daily Southtown (Chicago)

The special effects are astounding, jaw-dropping

- Craig Outhier, Phoenix Tribune

nothing short of amazing

- Bob Graham, San Francisco Chronicle

visually breathtaking

- Charles Ferruzza, Overland Park Sun (Kansas City)

"What Dreams May Come" moves like a poem, a symphony, a dream.

Awesome spectacle

You've never seen the like of it. Guaranteed.

- Shawn Levy, The Oregonian Staff

The visuals are glorious.

dazzling to the point of distraction

- Karen Hershenson, The Contra Costa Times (San Jose)

honest and heartfelt performances from Williams and Sciorra

- Dennis King, Tulsa World

breathtaking brush-stroked scenery

- Steve Perall, St. Petersburg Paper

a film of breathtaking visual beauty virtually flawless

- Tampa Weekly Planet

the director really hits his stride stylistically

- Michael O'Sullivan, The Washington Post

There's something to be said for movies that create entire new worlds for us to savor.

- Matt Brunson, Creative Loafing/Charlotte, NC

"What Dreams May Come" seduces the eye

- Frank Gabrenya, The Columbus Dispatch

visually breathtaking

- Dave Larsen, Dayton Daily News

visually stimulating romance

"What Dreams May Come" has so much going for it

- Bonnie Britton, The Indianapolis Star

an astonishing romantic fantasy infused with real passion and emotion

- Jim Ridley, The Nashville Scene

a visual paradise eye-popping, tear-jerking

- Sean P. Means, The Salt Lake Tribune

one of the most visually beautiful films in years the movie deserves for four stars

- Joe Holleman, St. Louis Post Dispatch

Williams is superb life-affirming

- Noe Gold, Entertainment Aylum